

Head of Trust Operations

Our client is a highly successful and growing local Trust and Corporate Services business and part of a specialised and listed financial services company. It prides itself on quality of service to meet client needs and now seeks to appoint a Head of Trust Operations to help continue the delivery of high quality services to an international client base.

Reporting to the Managing Director, the position is responsible for the effectiveness of the operational activities of the business, identifying and introducing change where agreed and providing the business with support in order to meet corporate objectives.

Ideally, candidates will hold professional qualifications that meet the JFSC requirements for Category A person but applicants with a substantial track record in operations management within a Trust and Fiduciary services environment will be considered. Candidates will be highly motivated, have high working standards and have the ability to translate strategic concepts into practical solutions in a “hands-on” environment, working closely with the Managing Director in implementing change.

This is an important and senior role within the local company that offers a wide-ranging involvement in operational procedures, technology, premises and requires strong interpersonal skills and a mature presence to enable action plans to be completed. The postholder will have a strong drive to deliver end results and will have an appreciation of financial matters as well as the ability to deal with people issues together with or on behalf of the Directors.

Applicants should apply personally to Edith Coleman for a confidential discussion about the position.
