

A unique opportunity (we should know)

Chief Operating Officer

Spoor & Fisher is an international law firm, specialising in all aspects of intellectual property law including patents, trade marks, copyright and designs, related litigation, commercial transactions, due diligence and portfolio management with special emphasis on providing services throughout Africa, the Middle East and the Caribbean.

It prides itself on quality of service to meet client needs and now seeks to appoint a Chief Operating Officer to help the Jersey office to continue the delivery of high quality services to an international client base.

This new position, reporting to the Management Board in Jersey and working closely with the General Manager of the Southern African practice in defining and implementing shared group operational strategies and goals, will act as part of the Executive team and be responsible for the effectiveness of the operational activities, planning and implementing strategy for operational management and development in Jersey, including financial management, human resources and IT, so as to meet agreed organisational objectives within agreed budgets and timescales. Ideally, candidates will have excellent financial skills, be able to demonstrate a successful track record in managing operations in a professional services firm and have a commercial approach to business.

Candidates will be highly motivated, have high working standards and strong communication and people management skills, in translating strategic concepts into practical solutions in a "hands-on" environment.

Applicants should apply personally to Bob Hassell for a confidential discussion about the position. www.hassellblampied.com
